Rates for display advertising made known on application.

The Twice-a-Week Sun is an eight-page, forty-column paper, published every Monday and Thursday, and contains all the news of the week, local, State and general, and will be mailed, postage free, to any part of the United States or Canada, for $1.00 a year—in advance.

All advertising bills become due after first appearance of advertisement, unless otherwise stipulated in contract. Parties not known to us will be required to pay for advertising in advance. Address, THE DAILY SUN, GAINESVILLE, FLA.

The followers of Dowie are reported to be losing faith in him. Many have lost money on him as well.

If Russia mixes up matters with the English and gets two armies to retreating from opposite directions, there may be a head-on collision.

Frank Walpole, editor of The Mantee Record, has announced himself as a candidate for "Congressman at Large." The Sun would like to know just when this office was created in Florida.

There is hardly a town in Florida but what a factory of some kind would do well. Canning, pickling and preserving fruits and vegetables pays in the Northern States. It would pay as well in Florida.

In many States the supreme courts are being eliminated from politics. If all courts could be thus managed it would be a grand idea. No judge should be appointed as a reward for political services.

The Irish potato-crop in Georgia is considered by some as good as a gold mine. Many counties in Florida are raising them with as much profit. There is never a time when Irish potatoes will not bring a fair price in the market.

Ocala is becoming quite a center for Socialist discussions. Regular lectures are given by Winfield Grayford in that city, and they certainly must have some effect. There are many points advanced by the Socialist party that are bound to catch the popular fancy.

When you hear the sweet harmony of that dear old song, "My Old Kentucky Home," do you ever think that the grave of the author is unmarked? And hundreds of singers are being applauded for singing the song. Where is the monument talked of for Stephen Foster's grave?

Mrs. Cassie Chadwick was found guilty at Cleveland, O., Saturday, of conspiracy to defraud the United States, by conspiring to secure certificates of checks on a National bank when there were no funds in the bank to her credit. She was found guilty of all seven counts, and can be fined $10,000 on each and imprisoned two years on each. The case will be appealed.

The Southern Traffic Association, which meets in New Orleans March 20th to 25th, at which time lumber will be considered for the State of Florida, has changed the time of such hearing from March 23d to the 27th, when the matter of classification No. 1 of the Florida Railroad Commission will be heard. The rates are known as Class P, and refer to lumber and lath.

The article recently published in this paper in reference to birds protected by the game law was misleading. The article was taken from one of our State exchanges, hence the error. Robbins are not protected in this State, neither are doves. It is unlawful, however, to kill robins within the city of Gainesville, and all song birds and birds of plumage are protected by the State law.

HAS HELPED GAINESVILLE.

The establishing of the Bible Conference and the Chautauqua in our city has done more to advertise Gainesville than anything else that has ever happened. It has brought people here for that pleasure alone—of attending such a season of Bible study and wholesome amusement.

One gentleman, who with his wife and another lady have been here, said he saw an announcement of the Chautauqua in a little Sunday school paper published in Georgia and they came here. They were so pleased with the meetings and the city that he said they would come again.

Two ladies who had heard of Gainesville through the Chautauqua, came here and were delighted with the place. They will not only come again, but will bring others with them, besides telling others of the pleasant city, excellent drinking water and kindly-disposed people they saw here.

Anything that tends to draw good people to our city is a good thing, as these people help the city. If by any means a dollar is started to roll down the street, someone is going to get it, and it takes money to make the city grow. Indirectly everybody is benefited by every new dollar that comes into town.

We have every reason to be thankful for these assemblies, and were it not for the efforts of Dr. Clarence B. Strouse, who has labored faithfully to make them a success, there would not be so many people in the country as there is today to speak in tones of praise of Gainesville and her people. He is deserving of the thanks of all for his efforts, and we doff our hat to Mr. Strouse.

SILLY UTTERANCE.

Dr. William Osler of the John Hopkins University of Baltimore has made nearly every man in this country who is past 40 years of age mad as a March hare because he stated that after that age they should be chloroformed, as they had outlived their usefulness. The good doctor was 57 at the time, he made the assertion and expected to leave the country soon, no doubt desiring to give something to the people by which he would be remembered. But he has caused a considerable worry and to allay this feeling and appease some who have not slept a wink since the statement was made, the following compilation of what men have done who were past 40 years of age may have a tendency to calm their fears and restore them to their ordinary peace of mind and that Rev. Thomas Gregory for his time devoted in looking up the matter:

Beginning with Demosthenes, we find that the great Athenian delivered his oratorical masterpieces, the orations "On the Crown," at 54.

Aristotle did his greatest work after 50, and Plato after 55.

Chaucer wrote the "Canterbury Tales" and other famous works after 40. Spinoza wrote his epoch-making book after he was 42.

Lawrence Sterne wrote "Tristram Shandy" after he was 47.

Cervantes was 50 when he began to write the immortal "Don Quixote."

Defoe was 54 when he gave the world "Robinson Crusoe."

Oliver Cromwell did not begin his wonderful life work until he was 43.

Titian was over 40 when he began work on the renowned masterpiece "The Assumption of the Madonna."

Leonardo da Vinci, who, we are told, comes nearest to being history's "universal genius," was 45 years old when he painted "The Last Supper."

Sir Christopher Wren designed St. Paul's Cathedral at 46 and the towers of Westminster Abbey at 50.

Morse was 41 when he gave the world the telegraph.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: E. J. cian, wrote his greatest treatise when 68 years of age.

Pasteur was 53 before he fairly got to work on his hydrophobia cure.

Past 40, too, was Mohammed before he began to write the Koran and to organize the scattered tribes into Islam.

Mommsen was on the shady side of 40 when he wrote his monumental history of Rome, and the other great German historian, Ranke, did not begin his "History of the World" until he was 20.

A Washington dispatch says that the special commission created by the President to consider the subject of naturalization will, it is expected, be prepared to submit to Congress at the next regular session a full report upon this important subject. The President has shown a lively interest in the matter, not only having before him reports of Federal officers containing many specific instances of gross fraud and error in connection with the application of the present naturalization laws but having himself, while connected with the municipal government of New York City, noted many of these evils. Besides internal frauds, the insufficiency of the existing naturalization laws has involved the State department in endless correspondence with European governments growing out of cases of doubtful naturalization.

According to the statement of one of our city ministers, there is a good field in Gainesville for missionary work in the Sunday school. It is reported that there is a large number of children in the city that don't attend this branch of Sunday services and an effort will be made to get them started in that direction. Some of the schools give prizes to those who attend most regularly, and where this has been the custom the schools have been most successful.

Telegraph Company Restrained.

Charleston, S. C., March 13.—In the United States circuit court, an order was taken restraining the city authorities of Anderson from attempting to collect by forcible means the new license rate of $100 from the Western Union Telegraph company, which the company alleges in its bill of complaint to be unjust and unreasonable. The agent of the company was recently placed in jail and the order of the court directs that this procedure, which has again been threatened, be not done. The complaint alleges that its business does not justify the payment of the license sum which has been demanded.
